Applicants who have not completed both a CPA or APA accredited doctoral degree and pre-doctoral internship, or the equivalent, and who are not already registered/licensed as a psychologist in another Canadian or US jurisdiction, are ordinarily ineligible for registration in British Columbia. You may still submit a registration application if you would like the Registration Committee to consider other evidence that you believe to be sufficient to demonstrate that your knowledge, skills and abilities are substantially equivalent to those expected of an applicant who has completed an accredited doctoral degree and pre-doctoral internship. Please be advised, however, that your application may be rejected, or you may be required to undergo additional education, training or other upgrading of your knowledge, skills or abilities.
